

Camco Technologies – Service Technician - REGION BEVEREN From road to vessel

Your position

Are you a hands-on technician who enjoys working independently and building strong relationships with customers? We are looking for a local Service Technician to support our customers in the Port of Antwerp, including one of the largest container terminals in Europe.

You will become the trusted on-site technical contact, ensuring our systems and equipment continue to operate reliably and efficiently.

Your role

- You work daily on fixed customer sites within the Port of Antwerp and build a strong relationship with the customer.
- You independently perform maintenance, service interventions, commissioning and repair works on our installations at customer sites in the Beveren region.
- You analyze technical issues and solve problems independently and efficiently.
- You carry out your work according to safety regulations and quality standards.
- You provide clear and accurate reporting of completed interventions.
- You manage your own spare parts stock and visit the HQ (Leuven) approximately once a week to collect or return materials.
- Together with colleagues, you also assist with installations, testing and commissioning of new systems.

Your profile

- You hold a technical A2 degree in electricity, electromechanics, industrial maintenance or a related field.
- Previous experience as a service technician, maintenance technician or installer is a strong asset.
- You are solution-oriented and able to work independently.
- You are flexible, hands-on and practical in your approach.
- You follow procedures, technical instructions and safety guidelines accurately.
- Affinity with networking and PC systems is considered a plus.
- You have strong communication and administrative skills.
- You are willing to participate in an on-call rotation: 1 weekend out of 3 available for emergency interventions between 08:00 and 17:00.

- You hold a valid driver's license (category B).
- You have an excellent command of Dutch.

Our offer

- A full-time daytime position (39h/week) with 6 additional ADV days per year.
- A permanent contract with a competitive salary package including: company car and fuel card, meal- and eco vouchers, hospitalisation insurance, group insurance, mobile phone subscription,...
- A challenging role within a high-tech and growing company.
- Access to our Camco Academy, where you will receive in-depth training on our products and processes.

Ready to work in one of the coolest high-tech environments out there? Join the world of automated container terminals and help keep Europe's biggest logistics hubs running!
